

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

In presenting the second volume of our Directory to the public, we confess, we feel assurance that we have produced a work more worthy of their support, than our publication of last year. We here repeat, that circumstances, which we could not control, caused that work to appear replete with errors of omission and commission, and although we do not present our present Directory, by any means as a perfect work, still we think it more free from errors, than any similar work which has preceded it. The short space of time occupied in collecting, preparing and printing the work—(being less than thirty days, from its commencement to its completion) must be ample apology for any errors which may be detected.

The readers of our Directory will perceive that we have introduced a new feature in the publication of a Buffalo Directory; we have allowed the use of scarcely any contractions. Instead of the unsightly abbreviations which have hitherto disfigured our Directories, and in some instances rendered them absolutely unintelligible, it will be perceived that every name, occupation, name of street, &c. is accurately spelled out, and properly pointed—thus enabling the enquirer, with perfect ease, to ascertain the name of person and location sought for.

A prominent feature in the present work, is the publication of an excellent and reliable map of the city—engraved expressly for this work—being the first time any similar publication has been so accompanied. The last year's work was embellished with a small map 'tis true, but its extreme contraction was considered so objectionable that we determined to procure a map which should be a real aid to the stranger in ascertaining localities. We are under particular obligations to Mr. O. G. STEELE, of 206 Main street, for permission to use the projection of his new and really valuable Map, just published—the Map of Mr. STEELE, is invaluable to the land owner, or legal man, embodying as it does all the numbers of the original lots, dimensions of Blocks, adjacent county, &c., and we cordially recommend it to the support of the public.

The most interesting and valuable historical sketch of the early history of our city, will be read with interest, particularly by our older citizens, and as a matter of reference will be found valuable to every inhabitant. For this, as well as the introductory sketch of last year, we are indebted to the courtesy of Hon. GEORGE W. CLINTON, whose ready and eloquent pen has always been prompt and available in forwarding every subject connected with the rise and prosperity of Buffalo.

Mr. J. C. CLEMENT, editor of the Western Literary Messenger, has had the superintendence of collecting the names of the First, Second, Third and Fifth Wards, and H. N. WALKER, Esq. has furnished the names of the Fourth Ward. That the work has been executed in as satisfactory manner as could be in the short space of time allotted, we have every reason to believe.

Our Register of the Public Offices, Societies, Banks, Insurance Companies, Churches, &c. &c. will be found full and complete, and arranged with great care. The Commercial Statistics will also be found extensive and particularly useful as matters of reference.

In conclusion, we would distinctly repeat our proposal of last year—that it is our intention to publish a Directory of the city annually—and with succeeding years hope so to improve upon its appearance and matter as to make it every way worthy of general support. Having our arrangements now made the public may depend upon seeing us annually, and at as early a date in the season as may be practicable, having due regard to being correct.

At the end of the list of names will be found a few names which were not received in time to be placed in their proper arrangement.

It may not be improper here to drop a word to our citizens generally on the importance of seeing that correct information is given to collectors of names. Much trouble has been experienced in this department—in many instances the answering questions has been deputed to persons entirely incompetent—and doubtless many errors have arisen in consequence. It is a trifling matter for each housekeeper to prepare a list of the heads of the family, boarders, &c., and we hope another year our citizens will bear this more generally in mind. A good and correct Directory is a matter of common interest to every citizen, and it can only be produced by a general and cordial co-operation.

A Table of Contents will be found at page 257, at end of list of names.

HISTORY OF BUFFALO.

WE had hoped to present our readers with a more complete account of the rise of Buffalo than we now offer for their perusal. But, while our other engagements have left us little leisure for the collection of materials, the necessity of research has not been lightened to the extent we hoped, by the voluntary contributions of others. It is true that the venerable Judge Porter, properly appreciating the importance of minute history, and his obligations as one of the earliest and most influential settlers of Western New York, has placed in the archives of the Young Men's Association an invaluable memoir ;— that James L. Barton, Esquire, has favored us with his highly interesting reminiscences, which will, we trust, be put in a convenient form for preservation and reference, — and that pleasing writers have come nearer home to us, and favored us with their recollections of The Streamlet in the City, and Gould's Pond. But these papers, gratifying as they are, contain but little that can be adapted to our use and interwoven in our narrative. We are dissatisfied with the result of our labors. But we believe it contains an outline capable of being filled up and perfected, and that it embodies some facts not generally known, which must have a peculiar interest for our old inhabitants, and be calculated to revive their memory of early events and associations, and prompt them to give to the public the many fleeting traits of our progress which live only in their recollections, and which are in so great danger of falling into oblivion. Buffalo is destined to be one of the great cities of the world, and a remote posterity will take great interest, and perchance derive instruction from details which may now seem trivial. Facts bearing upon our progress will gather consequence with the flow of time, if they be not sunk in its current ; and now, if ever, is the time to launch them on the stream. But, alas! every day sees them mouldering away uselessly upon the strand. They are perishing with the removal from the world of the men who saw the rude beginnings of our city. This year has deprived us of two old men — of Judge Townsend, who furnished important matter for our last sketch, — and of Ezekiel Lane, who is said to have built the first house on the site of Buffalo, and who lived in all more than a century. We hope the few who are left will feel, that the thinness of their numbers adds to their obligation to contribute their stores to our materials for history, and that the departure of their compeers will be a prevailing incitement to its immediate performance.

In 1772 the Provincial Legislature organized the County of Tryon, which embraced the whole western and middle portions of the Province. In 1784 the State Legislature changed the name to Montgomery, in honor of the illustrious General who fell in the assault upon Quebec, and who was equal in noble daring, but not in fortune, to the gallant Wolfe. Population began to spread beyond the settlements on the Mohawk, but in scanty streams, until 1789, when the old County of Ontario, embracing the whole of what we now term Western New York, was set off from Montgomery. From that time the progress of civilization westward was accelerated, and in March, 1802, Genesee was separated from Ontario County. Six years later, in March, 1808, Niagara County became the western extremity of the State. And in April, 1821, Niagara was divided into several Counties, of which the present County of Erie was one.

Sixty years ago a very important event in the history of this State occurred on, or in the vicinity of the site of Buffalo. The Seneca Nation then owned the entire western portion of the State, and the right of pre-emption, or exclusive right of purchase from them, pertained to the State of Massachusetts. From the settlements on the Mohawk westward the country was a forest, broken only by scattered Indian Villages and a few military posts. Oliver Phelps had purchased the right of pre-emption from Massachusetts, and in 1787, at Geneva, had attempted to acquire from the Indians their title to a portion of the western territory,—but the attempt resulted only in an arrangement to hold a Treaty with them the following year. In June, 1788, he met the Senecas at Buffalo, and concluded a Treaty, by which they conveyed to him the territory lying between the pre-emption line and the Genesee River, and a strip of land on the west bank of that River, twelve miles wide and about twenty miles in depth from its mouth. This acquisition is now known as Phelps and Gorham's Purchase. It does not appear that any Commissioner on the part of the old Confederation was present, nor that any ratification by the Senate of the United States was deemed necessary to the validity of this Treaty. Indeed this Treaty was nearly simultaneous with the ratification of the Constitution of the United States by the requisite number of States to give life to that solemn Instrument. In May, 1788, but eight State Conventions had assented to the Constitution, and on the 21st day of June following New Hampshire, the necessary ninth State, gave in her adhesion to it — so that the foundations of our local prosperity and of the greatness of our country were laid in the same month of the same year, — and perchance on the very same day. Where the council was held which ended in this sale, — whether here, or at the Indian Village, some four miles up the Creek, — we do not know. It is not improbable that Winne, the Indian trader, had established the little store, in which he figured at this point only three years afterwards, when we first hear of him: But we have no records proving the existence of a domiciled white man here, or any where in this region, in 1788, — except at Oswego and Fort Niagara, — posts which the British still held, and continued to hold until 1796, in contravention of the Treaty which closed our Revolutionary War.

The year 1789 was distinguished by the birth of Oliver Phelps Rice, the first white child born on Phelps and Gorham's Purchase. He was born we believe in Bloomfield, in the present County of Ontario. We would be pleased to know his fate. He may well survive to this time, for, if living, he would be but fifty-nine years old. Population increased rapidly, and in August, 1797, the field of immigration in this quarter was enlarged; — for, by the Treaty of Geneseo, Thomas Morris extinguished the Indian title to the lands west of the Genesee River, except twelve tracts which the Senecas retained, and which were known as the Cananda, Gardeau, Squaky Hill, Little Beards, Big Tree, Conawagus, Tonawanda, Tuscarora, Buffalo, Cattaraugus, Alleghany, and Oil Spring Reservations. These lands soon passed into the hands of the Holland Land Company, and, under the liberal policy recommended by their agent, Joseph Ellicott, and adopted by the Company, were rapidly occupied by industrious and intelligent families.

In March, 1791, Col. Thomas Proctor visited the Senecas of Buffalo Creek, as Commissioner of the United States, and from him we have the first authentic notice of this place. He mentions the Store-house at Lake Erie, kept by Cornelius Winney. This point was then known as Lake Erie, and Winne was an Indian Trader. This store in which he dwelt was on Washington Street near the Canal Bridge, and is the only one mentioned by Col. Proctor, and was probably the only building then erected at this point.

La Rochefoucauld Liancourt, a French nobleman, visited this place and the neighboring Indian Villages in June, 1795. There were then a few houses at this point, for he speaks of an inn, where he was obliged to sleep on the floor in his clothes, and in which there was neither "furniture, rum, candles, nor milk." But there were "neighbors" who supplied milk for the traveller;—but the rum and candles were procured from Fort Erie. He says — "Every thing at Lake Erie, (by which name this collection of houses is called,) is dearer than at any other place we visited, for the simple reason that there is no direct communication with any other point." Isaac Weld, Jr. describes Fort Erie, in October 1796, as "a small stockaded post, adjoining which are extensive stores, and about half a dozen miserable little dwellings." The stores have vanished, the miserable dwellings remain, and the massive Fort which replaced the stockade, has been war-shattered, and is now a ruin.

Judge Porter, in August, 1795, went to Presque Isle, through Buffalo, in company with Judah Colt. He informs us that one Johnson, the British Indian interpreter, Winne, the trader, and Middaugh, a Dutchman with his family, lived at Buffalo.

At Presque Isle they found a party of surveyors, under the protection of a military company commanded by General Irwin, engaged in laying out a Village, which has since become the flourishing city of Erie. Col. Seth Reed, the father of Rufus S. Reed, and grandfather of Charles M. Reed, having just arrived, was living with his family in a marquee. In 1796, the only white person residing on the Western Reserve in Ohio, was a Frenchman who had taken up his abode with the Indians at Sandusky Bay.

We also learn from Judge Porters' excellent memoir, that, in 1797, the only road from Conawagus (Avon) to Buffalo, was an Indian trail,—and the only house upon it, was one of a Mr. Wilder, about one mile and a half east of Le Roy. The whole country was in fact a wilderness, and its settlement by the whites can hardly be said to have commenced until the beginning of this century.

Public attention at the east, however, had been directed to the cheap and fertile lands of Western New York, and the Holland Land Company having adopted a liberal system of sales, the wave of emigration flowed beyond Phelps and Gorham's Purchase, and in 1801 we find the Company laying out the village of New Amsterdam into village lots, outer and inner, any one of which would now be a sufficient fortune for a man of moderate desires.

Although the advantages of our site were appreciated by Joseph Ellicott, and a few enlightened men, at a very early day, it must not be supposed that those advantages were the same which now give Buffalo its pre-eminence among the rising cities of the Lakes. It may well be that Mr. Ellicott's acute mind looked far into the future, but neither he nor any other mortal, in 1800, could have seen the fore-thrown shadows of present commerce. Supplying the few settlers with necessaries, and exchanging rum, cloth, blankets, trinkets, and ammunition with the Indians, for furs and pelts, remained for a long time the chief modes of trade. The roads in our new country were execrable, and as late as 1812, the slow and circuitous course of trade was directed through the Niagara River to Schlosser, thence by the portage to Lewiston, thence by water to Oswego, and up the Oswego River, through the Oneida Lake and Wood Creek, and across a short portage, to the Mohawk River—thence by that river and around the portage at Little Falls to Schenectady,—and thence over the arid pine plains to Albany. If enlarged commerce was anticipated, Buffalo could hardly have been regarded as its probable centre. It had from the first a formidable rival in Black Rock, which outstripped it in the early race, and was not fairly distanced until 1825. Black Rock indeed had the superiority of natural position. While the mouth of the Buffalo Creek was always obstructed by a formidable bar, and sometimes utterly closed by it, Black Rock presented an excellent harbor which monopolized the infant commerce of the Lakes.

It will be remembered, that even after Morris' Treaty with the Senecas, an immense body of cheap and luxuriant territory lying east of the Genesee River, was open to the settler—that no facilities were extended to the adventurous immigrant by Steamboats, Canals, or Railroads, as in our day,—but that, on the contrary, they were compelled to encounter not only the privations, and dangerous distempers of the newly-opened West, but great difficulty and suffering in reaching it; and it will not appear surprising, that in 1807 there were scarcely a dozen houses in the humble hamlet of New Amsterdam. The stream of immigration was swollen however with the occupation eastward of the most promising lands, and the construction and improvement of roads, and in 1808, as before observed, this extremity of New York attained the dignity of a County, and was called Niagara.

The act of March 11, 1808, erecting the County of Niagara from the old County of Genesee deserves a passing notice.

It indicates either the liberal and just policy of the Holland Company, or the sense of the Legislature of the financial weakness of the new County, and of the interests of the Company, and is a proof also of the prospective importance attributed to New Amsterdam. It also shows that the villagers were probably dissatisfied with the then most inappropriate name of the place, and that it began to be known as Buffalo. Whence that name originated it is impossible to determine. The change of Tushawa or Tehoseroron to Buffalo Creek undoubtedly preceded it. Our readers will perchance remember some speculations upon this subject in our sketch of that year.

This act provides that the Court House and Jail in the new County shall be erected in the village of Buffalo or New Amsterdam, provided the Holland Land Company, or their agent, shall, within three years thereafter, and at their sole expense, erect in the said village a sufficient and suitable building or buildings for a Court House and Gaol for said County, and legally convey not less than half an acre of land whereon the same shall be erected, together with the said building or buildings, for the use of the said County. The judges of the County were required to examine the buildings, and, if satisfied, to make and record in the County Clerk's office, their certificate that this condition had been complied with. It was also provided by the act, that the first Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions for the said County of Niagara should be held at the house of Joseph Landon,—a public house on the site of the present Mansion House,—and afterwards, until the Court House should be erected, at such places as the Judges of the County should direct.

The Holland Land Company complied with the act; for Judge Townsend, in describing Buffalo in 1811, mentions "the old stone jail on Washington Street, and an unfinished wooden Court House." The conveyance of the site of the Court House to the Supervisors of the County is dated November 21, 1810,—and discloses a somewhat singular taste. The land conveyed is a circle, the centre of which was in the middle of Washington (then Onondaga) street, in front of the present Court House. Mr. Ellicott appears to have favored curves as much as triangles,—for, in the original plan of the city, Main street, when it reaches the open space where the Churches now stand, takes a bold circular curve to the West to South Division street, and then resumes its straight course. It was thus, in fact divided into two Avenues, that north of the curve being called Van Staphorst, and the other, Willink Avenue. It is said that Mr. Ellicott contemplated building a mansion for himself in this arc. It would have commanded uninterrupted views through the two avenues above mentioned, and through Erie, Church, and Niagara streets, or, as they were then called, Stadtnitski, Vollenhoven, and Schimmelpenninck Avenues. All these, to our ears uncouth designations, were the honored appellations of the proprietors, or members of the Holland Company. They were estimable and liberal gentlemen, but we cannot regret that their names have so perished from among us.

Inner lots numbers 184 and 185, described as "those two certain lots or parcels of land lying in the village of Buffalo or New Amsterdam, on which the gaol in said village had been erected by the Holland Land Company and accepted by the Judges of said County for the gaol of said county," &c., were likewise duly conveyed to the Supervisors by a deed dated Nov. 21, 1810. The gaol was of stone, and perchance survived the burning of Buffalo in 1813.

Charles Townsend and George Coit came here as traders in 1811, bringing by the route we have designated, about twenty tons of merchandize—a large stock for that time—at a cost of fifty dollars a ton from Albany. Judge Townsend estimated the dwellings at less than one hundred, and the whole population at about five hundred. There were three taverns and four stores in the place. "A small wooden building near where Mr. Silas Fobes's dwelling now stands"—the corner of Swan and Pearl Streets—"put up for a school-house, served also as a town hall, a church for all religious denominations, and indeed for all public purposes." "The mouth of the Buffalo Creek was usually so much obstructed by a sand bar, that small vessels could but rarely enter, and even canoes were sometimes shut out, and footmen walked dry shod across the mouth. Vessels were loaded and unloaded at a wharf near Bird Island, at Black Rock." Oliver Forward was a Justice of the Peace, and Judge Granger was Post Master and Collector of the Port.

Even at this late period the command of the lake was in the hands of the English, for they controlled the Indian trade, and we read in Weld's Travels, that so early as 1796, they had upon it three vessels of war, of about 200 tons burthen, and carrying from eight to twelve guns each; besides a number of merchantmen. This naval superiority, however, was reversed by the glorious battle of Lake Erie.

John Melish, an English traveller, visited Buffalo in 1811. He furnishes a very interesting account of the then condition of the Village, and our readers will find it in the "Notices of Early Travellers" appended to this sketch. We would call attention, however, to the fact stated by him, that it was, even at that unpropitious time, proposed to run a pier into the Lake, at the outlet of the Creek, and so form a harbor. A stage ran thrice a week from Albany to Buffalo.

The Village was undoubtedly rising rapidly in consequence when it was suddenly doomed to utter destruction. During the last war our citizens had rendered themselves obnoxious to their Canadian neighbors, by the zeal and energy with which they contributed to its prosecution, and the place itself was a military station. The indecisive and occasionally discreditable forays which mark frontier wars had exasperated evil passions on both sides, and the burning of Kingston was to be specially avenged. Buffalo was the object of retaliation. On the 30th of December, 1813, a large British force, with a horde of Indian auxiliaries, crossed the River at Black Rock, advanced upon the Village and took and burnt it, despite the gallant resistance of a portion of the inhabitants, who succeeded in removing a part of the military stores. Many of our people were carried away captive, and those who escaped, fleeing as they did in the depth of winter, and in utter destitution, were scarcely in a happier condition. So complete was the destruction that only two dwellings were left unconsumed — one of which was occupied by Mrs. Margaret St. John, and stood near David Burt's store on Main street. The village was utterly destroyed, and the inhabitants, to all appearance, hopelessly dispersed. Such are the atrocities of war! The rebuilding of the place was not commenced until 1815.

The Village was incorporated in April, 1813, and the Trustees named in the Act are Eli Hart, Zenas W. Barker, Ebenezer Walden, Oliver Forward, and Cyrenius Chapin. The bustle and incidents of the war, however, prevented all action under this charter. A new charter was passed on the 5th day of April, 1816, and the village accepted and was organized under it, on the 6th day of May following. Hoping that some brief notices of the doings and legislation of the village authorities may be as interesting to the public as they have proven to ourselves, we venture to incorporate them with our narrative. Although in perusing our Village Records we may be occasionally beguiled into a smile at the proceedings of the Patres Conscripti, we cannot but do justice to their foresight and wisdom in very many matters of much consequence to us as well as to the then inhabitants.

The Trustees appointed by the Act continued to hold office until the first election which took place on the first Monday of May, 1817. The powers of the Board of Trustees, however, were extremely limited until they were augmented by a new Charter in 1822. Ordinances were made, and taxes imposed by the freeholders and inhabitants, in meetings convoked by the Trustees, who appear to have been mainly executive officers.

The freeholders and inhabitants met, at the house of Gaius Kibbe, Innkeeper, on the 6th day of May, 1816. Of the Trustees, Samuel Wilkeson, Oliver Forward, Charles Townsend, and Jonas Harrison were present. The meeting chose Jonathan E. Chaplin, Clerk, Josiah Trowbridge, Treasurer, Moses Baker, Collector, and Reuben B. Heacock, John Haddock, and Caleb Russel, Fire Wardens. At a subsequent meeting, held at the same place, on the 11th November, 1816, they passed the first tax ever imposed in Buffalo—a tax of $1,400 to be apportioned according to the Assessment Roll of the town of Buffalo for that year. They also directed their attention to the security of the Village from fire, passed some wholesome precautionary ordinances, provided for the purchase of hooks and ladders, and authorized and required the Trustees to examine and ascertain the practicability of procuring a supply of water, by the means of water-courses, aqueducts, reservoirs or otherwise, and, if in their opinion the object could be thus attained, to contract for the purchase of any real property or privileges that might be necessary. Nothing however seems to have been effected under this resolution. But the Trustees on the 7th of March, organized a Fire-Company, and appointed the following firemen to constitute it—William Murray, Stephen K. Grosvenor, Jonathan E. Chaplin, Dan Bristol, Gorham Chapin, John Fobes, John B. Hicks, Horatio E. Fobes, Joseph Lawton, Jonathan R. Brown, Azariah Fuller, Jr., Sylvanus Marvin, Abraham Larzelere, Barent J. Staats, Frederick A. Sprague, Sylvester Matthews, William B. Goodrich, Nathaniel B. Goodrich, William Dorrington, Welcome Wood. They also resolved, rather arbitrarily, "that it be the duty of Vincent Grant, Gilman Folsom, and Amos Callender, to protect property from plunder whenever a fire may take place in this Village."

At the same meeting the Trustees passed a resolution,— "that a tax of three mills on the dollar, (computed to amount to $400) be taxed and collected on the property of the taxable inhabitants," &c. So that in 1817, the taxable property of the Village was valued at about $134,400.

The Trustees elected at the annual meeting on the first Monday of May, 1817, were Ebenezer Walden, Jonas Harrison, John G. Camp, Samuel Wilkeson, and Elias Ransom. The custody and disbursement of the public monies could not have been very burdensome. Elijah D. Efner being elected Treasurer in 1818, his predecessor, who had served for two years, having a balance of $56,20 on hand, modestly suggested that it might be, in the judgment of the Trustees, subject to a deduction for his services. But the Trustees inexorably resolved, "That no compensation be allowed to the late Treasurer, as his duties were represented to have been attended with no unusual trouble or loss of time."

In May, 1818, was passed the first ordinance to regulate the assize of bread. It fixes the weight of the sixpenny loaf, made of superfine flour, at one and a half, and the shilling loaf at three pounds.

On the 26th of July, 1820, The freeholders and inhabitants, adopted a code of by-laws and an extremely short one it was, consisting only of nine enactments — intended to prevent the keeping of damaged meats, fish, &c — to compel their owners to remove dead animals — to prevent the firing of crackers, &c., and the lighting of bonfires, always excepting the burning of shavings in the streets — to prevent nuisances and obstructions of streets, lanes, alleys, and sidewalks — to enforce cleanliness in market and slaughter houses, and make them subject to the inspection of the Trustees — and to prevent driving on sidewalks, and driving faster than a trot in the streets. We do not purpose a history of civic legislation, but the laws of a community afford a safe criterion of its condition, and this, being our first municipal code, furnishes, by the paucity of its subjects, strong proof of the then low state of Buffalo. Indeed, all the by-laws enacted before the City was incorporated would hardly fill two columns of the Commercial Advertiser. But we are happy to be able to add, that the proceedings of the Trustees, while they were adapted to the existing state of the Village, invariably indicate a wise forecast and an intelligent public zeal.

On the 7th of May, 1821, $200 were appropriated to build a public market, "to be placed opposite the Court House, on the west side of Main Street" — and it was provided that the rent to accrue from it should "be expended exclusively in making wells and reservoirs." But, two days afterwards, this act was rescinded, and the Trustees were authorized to contract with any individual to build a Market, ("without taxing the village.") In April, 1822, an ordinance was passed to prevent the sale of meats anywhere "except at the new public market, erected on Stadtnitski's Avenue near the Episcopal Church," under a penalty of $2. In May, 1823, the Market House was appraised at $306,75⁰—but it does not appear that it ever became village property.

The year 1822 is distinguished in our village Annals by a re-enactment of the Charter, with material alterations, by the adoption of a Corporate Seal, and the first corporate notice of the Harbor of Buffalo. On the 10th of April, at a meeting held at the house of Charles Townsend, the Trustees adopted, as the common Seal, "a stamp, now presented to the Trustees, making a circular impression of the words 'Buffalo Village,' with the centre of the circle relieved." The next Board, elected under the new Charter, confirmed this act of their predecessors, in June. But, in July, 1826, the Clerk was directed to procure "a Seal, two inches in diameter, the device of which shall be a ship or vessel, a section of the Canal, a canal-boat and horses drawing the same, and around the periphery of the circle, the words, at the top, 'Corporation Seal,'—and at the bottom, 'Buffalo,'"—which, having been also adopted by the Common Council in 1832, has ever since been our corporate seal.

Our limits forbid our repeating that portion of the introduction to our first volume which relates to the construction of the pier and the permanent opening of the mouth of the Buffalo Harbor in 1820-23. But we are happy to say that the Trustees co-operated energetically with private individuals in furthering an enterprize so essential to the prosperity of the village. In August, 1822, they contracted with John T. Lacy for the building of a mud-scow, for $534. And, it is recorded, that on the 7th of November, they directed orders to be drawn on the Treasurer, as follows:—in favor of John McKeen and John T. Lacy, for the mud machine, $499 56—Noah Brown, for scoops, chains, and blocks, $183 96—Johnson & Wilkeson, for transportation of scoop, &c., $23 41. On the 19th August, the first ordinance was passed, "to prevent obstruction of the navigable waters of Buffalo Creek, within the limits of the village" — merely providing against leaving vessels, boats, or hulls, unmoored or unfastened.

In May 1823, the first attempt was made by ordinance, to prevent domestic animals from running at large. It was an attack upon the liberty of swine;—but, although in 1826 a pound twenty-five feet square was ordered to be built for their punishment, and the civic war against them has been waged even to this day with unremitting vigor, it is too well known that these obstinate brutes have never been completely quelled.

In June 1824, the Trustees passed rather an arbitrary resolution, "that the old hovel at the foot of the hill, near Martin Daley's, be removed by the owner without delay, or that, in case of his neglect to remove the same, the same be burnt." We presume the boys had a bonfire, though Magna Charta was plainly violated.

On the 6th of August, 1825, Lorin Piercé was appointed Village Sexton. He has officiated as Sexton from that day to this, and no man ever earned a more deserved popularity in so melancholy a station.

On the 19th of June, 1826, the names of our streets were changed, and their Dutch appellations were discarded and renounced by a resolution of the Trustees. In this, being the first year in which any such licenses were issued by the village authorities, fourteen tavern, and sixty-four grocery licenses were granted. The general tax, including five per cent for the collector, was $1270 50. In 1830, the tax was only $2000.

But we must not report too indiscriminately the doings of the trustees: and it will be more convenient, instead of following their chronicles from year to year, to make a summary of their good deeds under appropriate heads.

We have already given proofs of their laudable anxiety to procure a sufficient supply of water, and to protect the village from fire. They seem to have had these great objects almost constantly in view. In November, 1824, the Trustees directed "the Clerk to write to the agent of the Holland Land Company, requesting a donation of a lot on Buffalo Creek for accommodating the village with water." Whether the request was made, and with what issue, we are not informed.

On the 16th of December, 1824, the second fire company was organized, and the members were George B. Webster, Hiram Johnson, George B. Gleason, Henry Fobes, Guy H. Goodrich, Ebenezer Johnson, Barent J. Staats, Nathaniel Wilgus, Richard Wadsworth, Elisha C. Hickox, Thaddeus Weed, Joseph Dart, junior, Elijah D. Efner, George Coit, Silas Athearn, John Scott, Henry Hamilton, William Hollister, Joseph Anable, Augustine Eaton, Abner Bryant, Theodore Coburn, Martin Daley, Robert Bush, and John A. Lazell.

No further notice appears to have been had in these important matters for several years, if we except the appropriation of $20, in December, 1826, towards defraying the expense of digging a well on the corner of Pearl and Swan Streets. But, in August, 1831, in pursuance of the Act of April 18, 1831, a tax of $3000 was imposed for the "exclusive" purpose of constructing wells and reservoirs, and the purchase of fire engines, &c. In September a contract was made with the Jubilee Water Works Company, to last seven years, by which the Trustees were to build in 1831, four cisterns, to contain about 10,000 gallons each, to be filled by the company, at $10 each per annum;—the second year the company were to be paid at that rate for six, and to fill at the same rate as many as the trustees should construct. In November $2000 were paid for a Fire Engine and 200 feet of hose; and the third Fire Company was organized. Two Engine Houses had been built, and another Engine ordered. We cannot leave this subject without expressing a sincere hope that Buffalo will not be permitted to be much longer without an abundant supply of pure water—the surest preservative of health, and chief safety from conflagration: nor without adding our humble testimony to the merits of our Fire Department. That Department has always embraced a very large portion of our most respectable citizens, has always been distinguished by good order and efficiency, and well deserves every encouragement which may be necessary to maintain its purity and vigor.

The Watch was introduced with the city charter. It seems to have been doubted whether private watchmen could be employed without the sanction of the Trustees. At any rate, in February, 1832, “some of the inhabitants of the Triangle situate between Main and Canal Streets and the Canal,” having petitioned therefor, John Benson, Michael Benson, and William Cornwall were appointed watchmen for the triangle, —“to be paid by the petitioners.”

In June, 1826, the village was divided into five road districts, “for the better improvement of the Streets and highways therein.” In June, 1831, it was resolved to appoint “a general road Superintendent,” and Moses Baker was chosen to fill the office. In fact the Streets were mere roads until 1835, and the side-walks were undefined and unregulated until 1825. The only mention of paving we find in the minutes of the Trustees, is a resolution of November 4, 1830, to the effect, that, “whenever the owners and occupants adjoining the alley leading from Canal Street to Main Street, shall graduate and open it, the village will pay half the expense of paving the same, not exceeding the expense of the part already paved by E. Johnson, in proportion to distance.”

In June, 1825, Joseph Clary was “directed to ascertain and establish the true surface of the sidewalks in Main Street between Swan and Crow Streets," and to place monuments "so that the walks when finished or flagged shall be an inclined plane." But it was not until the 27th of July, 1829, that any order for paving sidewalks was made. Then Main Street was ordered to be flagged and railed at the expense of the owners, commencing at the Stone Tavern on the Terrace and the north side of Crow (Exchange) Street, to Chippewa Street on the West side, and on the East side to Eagle Street—the flagging to be smooth stone or hard brick—the West side to be sixteen, and the East fourteen feet wide—the platforms not to exceed five feet—the curbing on the West side, from the Stone Tavern to the northeast corner of Lot No. 41, to be stone 18 inches by 5, and the rest to be of either stone, or of oak 16 inches by 4. This flagging, in May following, was ordered to be extended, on the East side to Genesee, and on the West side to Chippewa Street.

In October, 1821, leave was given to William Evans and William R. Gwinn, to construct the ship canal, care being taken to provide that it should be made at their own expense, and be a public highway, and that they should erect bridges over it.

The Act incorporating the City of Buffalo was passed April 20, 1832. The first election was held on the 26th of May following, and, in the First Ward, Isaac S. Smith and Joseph W. Brown,—in the Second, John G. Camp and Henry Root,—in the Third, David M. Day and Ira A. Blossom,—in the Fourth, Henry White and Major A. Andrews, and in the Fifth, Ebenezer Walden and Thomas C. Love, were elected Aldermen. The board assembled at the Court House on the 28th of May, and elected Ebenezer Johnson, Mayor. They also appointed Dyre Tillinghast, Clerk, and Henry R. Seymour, Treasurer. The building of that singular combination of a City Hall and public market which deforms the Terrace, was not we believe, commenced until 1835.

On the 13th January, 1835, Theodore Coburn, Sheldon Thompson, George B. Webster, Heman B. Potter, and John W. Clarke, were appointed by the Council to assess $5000 on the property to be benefited by the paving of Main from South Division to Crow Street. This report was confirmed on the third, and the work ordered to be done on the 10th day of April.

Here we desist from pursuing our city annals into detail. We have found them full of interest, and they are the main material for a local history. They establish one fact which all ought to be apprised of,—that our most distinguished and successful citizens have been those who have taken an active part in promoting the prosperity of the place, and have deemed no civic office too humble, or too onerous for their acceptance. Many instances of this fact have been incidentally exhibited, and more might easily be adduced did our limits permit. We will add, however, that the first Attorney of the Coporation was Gorham Chapin, appointed in June, 1822, and Joseph Clary succeeded him in May, 1823; James Sheldon filled that office in 1826: on the 2d of June, 1829, George P. Barker was appointed Clerk, and Elijah Ford took his place in April 1834, when Mr. Barker was appointed Attorney of the village.

We would be very glad to possess a history of the progress of architectural taste in Buffalo, and the dates of the erection of the more important edifices: But we are sadly deficient in these particulars. We know that "the Stone Tavern" which has now disappeared, was thought ornamental in its day: and the old Bank of Niagara, now regarded as an antiquated building, and which from its position, is, in fact, a nuisance, was deemed a noble structure so late as 1825. The American Hotel was built in 1835-6. Very many creditable religious structures have risen within a few years, and others are now rising. But we cannot state fully how our churches were endowed or when they were erected. The Holland Land Company, however, pursued an enlightened policy, and we may mention that the sites of St. Paul's Church, and of the First Presbyterian Church, were donated by it,—the former in June, and the latter in December, 1820.

Our city has no buildings for judicial or civic purposes, worthy of its position, or adequate to its wants. But the times seem fully rife for planning and commencing a City Hall commensurate with the present palmy condition, and worthy of the assured destiny of Buffalo.

Be it remembered that, although Buffalo has once at least passed successfully through a long and arduous struggle, in which her very existence was endangered,—though, being deficient in capital, she felt the full force of those tremendous financial convulsions, against which naught but capital could afford a safeguard, and which shook the credit of the whole country to its very centre, her citizens have been ever sedulously devoted to the true interests and highest glory of a free community. Neither the calm of prosperity, nor the buffetings of adversity ever paralyzed their efforts in the cause of Education, nor rendered them utterly neglectful of ennobling science. We have a free common school system which is the chief ornament of our city, and the strongest guaranty of civil order. Our Young Men's Association has promoted literary taste, and created an appetite for knowledge. It has done much good, and we are sanguine that better things are not far behind. The Medical Department of our University is a noble and flourishing institution, and we trust the day is not far distant, when all the departments will be fully organized, and Buffalo be as illustrious in science, as she is happy in a diffused prosperity, and unrivaled at the West in commerce.

It is somewhat out of place, but we are compelled to give here, or to omit entirely some information recently received, for which we are indebted to C. Turner, Esq. of Lockport, whose forth coming history of the early settlers of Western New York we are anxiously expecting,—and which will form a most desirable addition to general as well as local history.

The first settlement of Buffalo, was in the vicinity of the Liberty Pole by the Terrace Market. As stated in the Introduction to our first volume, the double log house on or near Exchange street, built by Middaugh and Lane, and sold to Judge Barker, in 1807 or 1808, was among the first dwellings—it is claimed to have been the very first erected in Buffalo. No contracts for the sale of lands in New Amsterdam were entered into by the Holland Company until November 1, 1804,—on which day six were made, by the entry of memoranda in a book kept by Mr. Ellicott, their agent and attorney. One of these is for the conveyance to Capt. William Johnstone, the British Indian Interpreter, of outer lots 98 and 85, and inner lots 3, 30, and 32, in consideration of services rendered by him to the company, in the adjustment of the boundaries of the Reservation, between the company and the Senecas, over whom he seems to have possessed a boundless influence. Another contract was for the sale of inner lot No. 1, to John Crow, who kept a small tavern upon it at an early day. By a memorandum made by Mr. Ellicott, it appears that this lot was deeded, on the 14th of April, 1810, to Joseph Landon, for $140. The other sales was of inner lots, to Asa Ransom, number 65—Sophronius Maybe, number 35,—Henry Chapin, number 34; and William Robbins, number 33. These agreements were probably coupled with conditions, on the part of the purchaser, to clear the land and build houses, as Mr. Ellicott was at the outset averse to selling to any but actual settlers;—and the price of an inner lot could not have exceeded $20;—for on the 3d day of July, 1807, we find Abraham Hershey buying of the Company, inner lots 150, 151, 156, and 157, in all for $80, and binding himself to clear one of the lots and build a house in some short time thereafter. In 1808, Alpheus Hitchcox purchased outer lots 88 and 89, at the rate of $4 per acre. Melish, in his travels, in 1811, says of Buffalo, "The lots are from 60 to 100 feet deep, and sell at from 25 to 50 dollars; and there are out lots of 5 and 10 acres each, worth at present from 10 to 25 dollars per acre."

The increase of population, at first gradual, has of late been extremely rapid. Metish says, "The population was by the last census 365; it is now (1811) computed at 500, and is rapidly increasing." In 1825, the population was 2412: in 1830, it was 8,668; in 1835, it had swollen to 15,661; in 1840, it was 18,213. The census of 1845 numbers our people at 29,973. In February last, Mr. Palmer, who took the school census, took with great care, at the same time, an enumeration of the inhabitants generally, and found they amounted to more than 40,000. We hazard but little in repeating our prediction, that, in 1850, Buffalo will contain 50,000 souls.

And here we must be permitted to express our chagrin at being unable to enliven this sketch by brief biographies of the early settlers. We hope this deficiency will be perceived, and that the means of supplying it hereafter will be furnished. There must be much of interest, if it can be recovered from the page of oblivion, in the lives of Johnstone, Crow, Lane, and Winne. It might seem invidious to specify other more recent Buffalonians who have contributed to the general well being. But we must say that we would be very glad to possess a biography of that most exemplary, benevolent, and excellent man, Louis Leconteulx, for he lived a checquered life, and was a public benefactor. Surely, too, the lives of such men as Dr. Cyrenius Chapin, Oliver Forward, and Charles Townsend, must present some features of general concernment, as well as others peculiarly precious to those who love to delve in the mouldering recollections of the past.

The history of our Harbor, and of our Harbor Improvements, would of itself, if duly written, fill a volume. It is connected not only with our own, but with the history of the state ; and the western termination of the Erie Canal was a question involved in party strife, and influential in determining the destinies of statesmen. De Witt Clinton appreciated the advantages of Buffalo as the terminus, and his counsels, after a fierce contest, prevailed, and time has most signally vindicated his sagacity. Black Rock, once a threatening competitor, has sunk into obscurity, but will soon, we trust, be embraced by the extension of our city, and flourish with it. The Buffalo Creek, with the aid of Art, has yielded a more commodious harbor for the commerce of the Lakes, than Art and Nature both could ever form from the rushing river.

But, for many years it has been evident that our Harbor, occasionally crowded as it was, would shortly, for want of room, prove insufficient to shelter and accommodate the constantly augmenting shipping of the Lakes. As our tables show, this increase is astounding to those who know not, that what in Europe would be an Empire, has sprung up at the West since 1825. This evil in anticipation had attracted but partial attention, and discussion had given rise only to worse than unprofitable quarrels, resulting in the defeat of every scheme and project of improvement, until, in 1847, the public was aroused by the thronged state of the creek, which several times was fairly bridged by vessels for a full quarter of a mile, while our warehouses, being filled to overflowing, the wharves and streets in their vicinity were covered and choked with flour and produce which could not find shelter. Then the public acted, and as will always be the case when the public acts deliberately, petty and selfish schemes were thrown aside, bickerings ceased, and all our citizens concurred in sanctioning an expanded system of improvement, which, when completed, will suffice for the ever expanding commerce of a century to come. This system, having been carefully matured by a joint Committee of the citizens and of the Common Council, was adopted at a general meeting of the citizens on the 21st, and by the Council on the 24th of August, 1847. These will we trust be honored days hereafter. The plan contemplates primarily the completion by the State of the Main and Hamburg Street Canal, and of two large Basins, the Ohio and the Erie, with slips connecting them with the canal. The Ohio Basin is to have an area of ten acres, and is connected with the Buffalo Creek about a mile from the mouth—the Erie Basin is to be three hundred feet wide and half a mile in length, extending from the north side of the entrance of the Harbor towards Black Rock. Both are to be of a depth sufficient for the largest craft, and will quadruple our facilities for commerce. The State has made appropriations for the execution of these great works, contingent upon the city's extinguishing the individual titles to the necessary lands. The city has taken the necessary preliminary steps to fulfil her part of the undertaking, and this year will, we trust, see both these improvements far advanced towards completion. When they are completed Buffalo will be founded on a rock.

Our task is nearly finished. We have omitted many matters incorporated in our former sketch; but hope, in 1849, to blend all our present and much fresh material into a worthier history of our dear city.

The old fable of Venus rising from the foam of the great sea is typical of the beauty of the fair cities which spring from commerce. And in the age of poetry, the rise of the Queen City of the Lakes would have justified it as readily as did the birth of Tyre. It is a sublime spectacle, this sudden and perfect growth of a great mart! It is suggestive of happy thoughts of man and Providence. It is not alloyed with those feelings of horror at tyranny, and pity for tasked slaves, which agitate us, when we read of the sudden founding of great capitals by ancient heroes, or when we see the great but remorseless Czar laying the foundation of St. Petersburg, and propitiating opposing Nature by the sacrifice of unnumbered human hecatombs. Here, freemen labored, not for fame, nor for the attainment of excessive wealth,—those delusive phantoms which ever mock their pursuers—but competency, and present happiness, and the pleasure of indulging their strong energies in the promotion of happiness around them. Hence the Doric plainness,—if you will, the uncouthness,—of some portion of our city, and the absence of those splendid monuments of art, which are too often paid for with blood, or with the accumulated mites wrung from a miserable people. These things will most surely be added unto us; and we care not how soon, for they will never be polluted by a single curse of Poverty, nor desecrated by the tread of strong Injustice. They will be free-will offerings of affluent Liberty to Taste, Utility, and Virtue—or may they never be!

The man who first swung the axe and built a house in Buffalo, died, in the full possession of his faculties, but a few weeks ago. He might have witnessed our whole history. But we cannot date our city's origin in so remote and misty an era as a century ago. The little hamlet perished in ashes thirty-three years since,—the computed duration of a generation, — and its ashes were not vivified for two years after. But then again, the petty village was rather the predecessor than the commencement of our city. Its true birth may well be traced to the completion of the Erie canal in 1825, and that being completed, the village was not a necessary antecedent of the emporium which was then first founded here.

That Buffalo is destined to be one of the greatest cities of the Union is universally admitted. All things are full of promise for her. The convulsions of the old continents are unfelt in this. European capital will seek investment where alone it seems secure; and affrighted multitudes will flee for shelter to the only country in the world where peace can be secure, and where war can wreak comparatively but little injury. The prosperity of the United States must be greatly augmented, and, whether the East is invigorated, or the West developed, Buffalo will surely reap a rich share of the harvest. Manufactures, purged of all debasement and oppression, are rising in her bosom; — honest labor is happy in innumerable employments; — prudent enterprize is expanding her resources; capital is flowing in; and, above all, a commerce, boundless as the West, limitless as the necessities of man, fertilizing as the Nile, and humanizing in all its tendencies, and which can never be diverted, warrants and confirms our most exalted hopes.

YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The Young Men's Association is an institution of a Literary and Scientific character, and was established by the young men of this city in the winter of 1835 and '36, and subsequently incorporated by an Act of the Legislature passed March 3, 1843.

Founded at a period of unparalleled prosperity, the management of its affairs partook of the character of the times. Its revenues were anticipated in the purchase of books, and its reading room was supplied with two newspapers from each State in the Union, and very many from the larger cities and the lake towns. A large debt was consequently created which, at one time, threatened the existence of the institution itself; but a rigid system of economy and the extraordinary exertions of successive executive committees, had in a great degree mitigated the evil, and the committee of 1845 had the satisfaction of reporting to the association at the close of their term that they had extinguished the balance of the debt.

The Library comprising many rare and valuable works numbers about 6000 volumes and is gradually increasing. It is open to members from 9, A. M. to 12, M. From 2 to 5, P. M. and from half past 6 to 9, P. M.

The Reading Room is supplied with all the daily city newspapers and many from the principal cities of the Union, together with the ablest American and Foreign quarterly and monthly periodicals. It is open every week day from 8, A. M. to 9, P. M. to members and strangers introduced by members, the latter being entitled to its free use for one month from their introduction.

Lectures—Literary and scientific are maintained during the winter months.

The affairs of the institution are managed by an Executive Committee, consisting of the President, three Vice Presidents, a Corresponding and Recording Secretary, Treasurer and a board of ten managers who are elected annually. The library is in charge of a Librarian appointed by the Executive Committee.

Terms of Membership—Initiation Fee $1.00; Annual Dues $3.00, payable semi-annually in advance.

COMMERCE OF THE LAKE REGION.

Indicative of the inherent wealth of a country is its internal commerce, for this cannot exist without industry among the people, the products of labor furnishing the means of traffic. Agriculture and the arts may exist, and be cultivated to the extent of a people's wants, but without a surplus of the products of these, wealth cannot accumulate. In the ratio of this surplus does commerce spring up, and by the extent of that commerce have we the true criterion by which to judge of the rate of prosperity which marks the progress of a people.

The wide-spread rapidity with which the internal commerce of the West and of the Lakes is extending — the number of persons interested in it — the influence which it exerts upon the commerce and monetary affairs of the nation — are giving it an importance which cannot much longer be permitted to suffer from continued and meditated neglect. If it must be falsified by the refusal and obstinacy of the only power having authority to afford it facilities — if our rivers must be obstructed by snags, and choked by sand-bars, and our harbors rendered inaccessible, and there is no power to remove these difficulties — there certainly is power in the General Government to collect and embody, in an official form, a statement of the extent and value of this inland commerce. The power "to regulate commerce between the States," must necessarily carry with it the power to ascertain what that commerce is — in extent, importance and character. The history of the world does not present the example of another nation, possessing a commerce so completely divested of all government regulations, and the government itself so ignorant of its magnitude and operations. In Europe, and in all commercial communities, except our own, the internal commerce of the country is regarded as important, and the care and attention of the government is thrown around it — its history and progress is as carefully noted, and its statistics as carefully preserved, as that of foreign commerce. Such we repeat, unfortunately, is not the case in the United States.

The tables which we give below, in relation to vessels engaged in our inland trade, fall short of all that is desirable, yet as far as they go, they will not be devoid of interest. We have often expressed our regret that there is no provision by the United States government, by which the internal commerce of the country can be correctly ascertained. Such information, it seems to us, must be not only desirable to the statesman and legislator, but useful to every one. The merchant and man of business desires to know, and to be successful he ought to know, the currents and direction of commerce — the supply and demand — the facilities of approach to, and departure from, every important commercial point within the country. In the valley of the Mississippi and along the borders of our Lakes, several such points have sprung up within a few years. There are now in the West, several cities, which, in commercial importance, are extensive enough seriously to affect the business of the whole country. Yet of the commerce of these cities — the trade which they carry on—the supplies necessary for them to receive, and the amount and character of their exports—there is no authoritative or reliable information furnished by officers vested with the requisite power to obtain correct intelligence. On the contrary, the United States government and her officers, and the whole commercial community, are dependent upon the scanty items which the industry, opportunity and inclination of the conductors of the press may be able to collect.

The history of the commerce of the lake region, and particularly its shipping or carrying trade, is flattering to those who feel an interest in its growth and prosperity. The extent of that interest will be seen in the following :

season of 1848. If to the above, therefore, we add the new vessels in process of construction, together with the British tonnage not enumerated, the aggregate tonnage of the lakes may be safely set down at 220,000 tons.

Of the above list, the tonnage enrolled in the District of Buffalo Creek, was as follows :

The increase of western commerce within the last few years has mainly been dependent upon the increase of the products of the soil, and the great demand for these products. The importations of the country have borne but a trifling comparison to its exports, and hence the general prosperity. The quantity of wheat, flour, Indian corn, rye and corn meal, and bread, exported from the United States in each of the past twenty-seven years, was as given in the annexed table. The exports in 1847 were immense—but it will be seen that the shipments for many years have been very large. The total value of these shipments from 1821 to 1847, both inclusive, was more than two hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

OPENING OF LAKE ERIE.

COMMENCEMENT AND CLOSE OF NAVIGATION ON THE ERIE CANAL FOR A SERIES OF YEARS.

The annexed table exhibits the date of the opening of the Lake, and the time of commencement and close of each navigable season of the Canal, from 1827 to 1848, inclusive. In 1846 the ice went out of the creek on the 14th March, and the steamer United States passed through for Detroit from Buffalo on Thursday, April 2d. There was no arrival at this port, however, until Saturday morning, the 4th April, when the steamer John Owen, followed by the propeller Phanix, reached here from the west. The first sail vessel which made her appearance here was the schooner Lumberman, from Erie, laden with coal. She arrived here on the 11th April.

The winter of 1847 was the mildest experienced in this quarter for many a year. On the 8th of February, the steamer United States left this port for Cleveland and reached that place the following day. She made several trips between Cleveland and Detroit, and returned here on the 26th February.

The States again left for the west a day or two afterwards, and reached Grand River on the 3d March. On the 25th of March, she again returned to this port, and on the following day the steamer De Witt Clinton and propeller Manhattan also reached here, the former from Monroe, the latter from Detroit. Steamers and propellers continued then to arrive and depart daily without experiencing any difficulty, but navigation was not free for sail craft until April 9, when the schooner Reindeer, followed by the schooners Patrick Henry and Sea Gull, and brig Columbia, made this port:

the shipments again commenced on an extensive scale, in consequence of the deficient harvest of the year previous; and in 1847 the shipments were to an immense extent in consequence of a second and more alarming deficiency in the crops of Great Britain and Ireland. During the past two years England has furnished the largest and best market for our breadstuffs, but such has not always been the case. The British West Indies, British American Colonies, and South America have been large consumers of our breadstuffs. It is only under certain circumstances that we can send breadstuffs to England with any profit. Nothing but a deficiency in their domestic supply compels them to take our surplus, or enables us to make such shipments profitable. For the purpose of enabling our readers to see at a glance the prices which they can afford to pay when purchasing for a foreign market, we avail ourselves of the following table prepared some weeks ago by the Rochester Advertiser. The dealer, by examining the rates of freight as quoted from day to day in our market reports, the prices of corn and wheat in New York, and the prices in Liverpool, as reported from time to time by the steamers, may ascertain the profit or loss on shipments at current rates. If desirous of purchasing at the West, for exportation, the same table will enable him to know precisely what he can afford to pay for the commodity and its transportation.

In order to cover costs and charges, flour and wheat must be bought in New York, and sold in Liverpool at the following rates :

Where freights range from 11d. per imperial bushel of 70 lbs., with 5 per cent. primage, to 2s. per bushel, there should be added to the above rates from 1½d. to 1s. 6½d per bushel. The sales in New York are always made at 60 lbs. the bushel, and in Liverpool at 70. The charges are made up of the following items: Say ex. at 7 per cent.; commission, &c., 4 per cent.; brokerage, &c. 3c. per bushel; marine insurance, 1½ per cent.; dock and town dues, cartage, turning, storage, fire insurance, loss in weight, 2½ per cent.; commission for selling, &c. 4½ per cent., to which must be added the current rates of freight.

CORN.

Indian corn, by the same rule, with 7 per cent. exchange, and 9d. sterling freight, with 5 per cent. primage, gives the estimate below. In order to cover costs and charges, the purchase in New York, and the sales in Liverpool, must be at the following rates :

UNION FURNACE WAREHOUSE.

No. 103 and 105 Main Street.

BUFFALO.

This article was constructed in consequence of a suggestion from the American Institute, that a simple, portable and low priced Furnace was much wanted by Farmers, and others for boiling or steaming food; preparing maple or beet root sugar, and for many mechanical purposes.— It is so formed that a space from one to two inches is left between the boiler and the casing that surrounds it, causing the heat in its passage to the pipe, to encircle all parts of the boiler even to its upper edge.

☞ The American Institute awarded a silver Medal, also premiums at the State and County Fairs where exhibited.
